Steele Files As Write-In Candidate For School Board

Bill Steele filed the necessary paperwork Tuesday morning to officially make him a write-in candidate for the Adair County School Board in District 5.

"Our testing scores are way sub-par and they've been that way for several years now," said Steele. "As the father of three kids in the school district, I'm concerned about it."

Since the deadline to get one's name on the ballot has already passed, Steele will not be on the ballot on Election Day, but voters who choose to write him in will have their vote counted.

Steele was direct when asked about why he chose to run. "I can't really fuss about this stuff if I'm not willing to stick my own neck out," he explained.

Steele will be running in District 5, against incumbent Mike Harris.

Bill Steele signed the necessary paperwork to become a write-in candidate for School Board District 5.

Born with cerebral palsy, 28-year-old Tim Roy Jr. has been confined to a wheelchair for his entire life, and as a result has had to depend on others to help him do various things.

However, the very intelligent college graduate has never given up the dream of freeing himself from his wheelchair, and being able to lead an independent, productive life. Now, he has hope that a medical treatment performed by a California doctor can give him

Band Boosters Bringing Game Back To Columbia October 9th

BY PAUL B. HAYES
EDITOR

For the first time in several years, local bingo players won't have to travel out of town to play their favorite game, as it is returning to Columbia on Oct. 9.

The Adair County Band Boosters, Inc. will begin hosting bingo games each Tuesday and Friday night starting on Tuesday, Oct. 9, at the old bingo hall located just off Campbellsville Road on Shady Lane.

The opening of Adair Band Bingo comes after more than a year of hard work by the boosters to lay the groundwork to make operating a bingo hall possible. David Herbst, president of the booster organization, said.

"First we had to become certified by the IRS as a 501(c)3 nonprofit charity organization," Herbst said. "We then had to apply and be approved for a license by the Kentucky Department of Charitable Gaming. Only then could we actually start finding a location, purchasing the necessary equipment, etc. to begin operating."

According to Teresa Bright, treasurer of the boosters, the boosters formed a bingo committee to explore the possibilities of using bingo as a fund raiser for the band before making the decision to do that opportunity – if the money can be raised to have it done.

"My whole life's ambition is to walk," Roy said in an interview at the home of his grandparents, Linda and Arvil Roy, who have raised and cared for him his entire life. "I want to be able to live independently and be a productive member of society rather than a burden on it for the rest of my life."

The medical treatment Roy needs is performed by Dr. David Stenblock, who specializes in regenerative medicine, in Mission Viejo, California. It basically involves removing stem cells from one's hip, then reintroducing them into the entire body via an IV.

The process helps regenerate the brain waves and nerves to send messages to the body's muscles, telling them to relax. In cerebral palsy victims, this process doesn't happen, and as a result the muscles remain very tight and stiff.

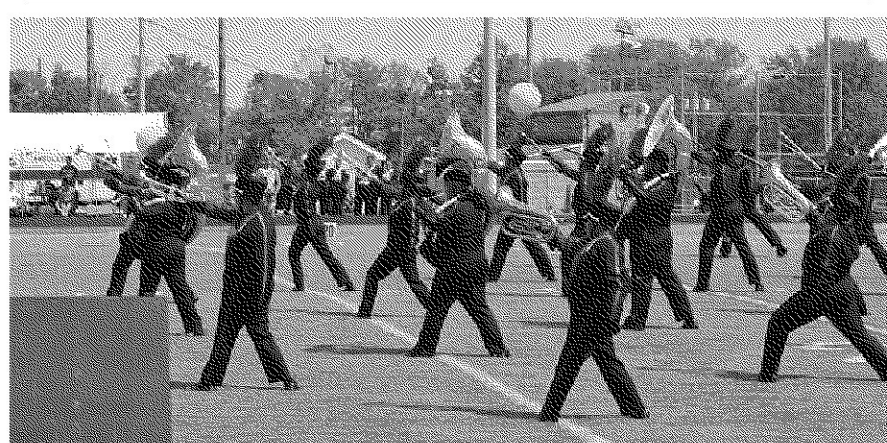

"I've got the muscles to use to walk," Roy noted. "My brain just doesn't tell them what to do."

Paul's PONDERINGS

Editorial Commentary
Written By
Paul B. Hayes, EDITOR

I don't think that there is hardly any of us that, at one point in time or another, doesn't feel a little bit sorry for himself or herself. I try not to complain too much, but I'll catch myself talking about my bad hip, or how my diabetes won't let me eat some foods I'd like to, or how my back hurts if I sleep wrongly. And, as we grow older, it seems that these small aches and pains get worse. One could go and on if one chose to do so.

However, I have found that one of the best ways to bring my minor aches and pains into the proper perspective is to visit with someone that is in much worse physical shape than you are, yet is someone that doesn't seem to complain at all, someone that is constantly striving to improve the hand of cards that life dealt them.

I visited with one such person earlier this week – Tim Roy Jr. A premature birth resulted in Tim being born with cerebral palsy. (A basic definition of cerebral palsy is a brain disorder condition cause by brain damage around the time of birth that is marked by a lack of muscle control, especially in the limbs.) As a result, Tim has been confined to a wheelchair for his entire life, and has had to depend on others to help him.

The reason for my visit earlier this week was to get information about Tim and a benefit supper and auction that is being held Saturday to help raise money for him to have an experimental stem cell treatment performed by a doctor in California that, if it is successful, could help free him of his wheelchair and let him walk. He had one treatment – in which stem cells are removed from his hip then put back into his body via an IV - a little over two years ago, and it has greatly improved his upper body muscle mass and loosened up the muscles in his hands and arms.

However, my visit quickly became more than just a fact-finding mission, as I began learning more about Tim Roy Jr. the human being, not just Tim the cerebral palsy victim. Although I have known Tim Jr., his father Tim Sr., and the grandparents who have raised him practically all of his life, Linda and Arvil Roy, for a long time, and even did a story about Tim a number of years ago, it wasn't until this week I learned just what type a person he is.

Tim is a very intelligent individual who not only went through the Adair County school system, but went on to graduate from Lindsey Wilson College, earning bachelor degrees in both history and criminal justice. Despite being confined to his wheelchair, he has studied and practiced kung fu for the past nine years, and earned a first degree black belt in the martial art. (There's a video of him do kung fu floating around out there in cyberspace somewhere, but due to my lack of skills in negotiating the internet, I haven't been able to find and watch it yet.) He also enjoys doing things a normal 28-year-old man does, such as weight lifting, hunting, etc. He has strong opinions on many things, including advocating the use of stem cells for treatment of individuals such as him.

Tim is also very determined. "My whole life's ambition is to be able to walk," he told me. The reason he wants to be able to walk is be able to live independently, get a job, and be a contributing member of society rather than a burden.

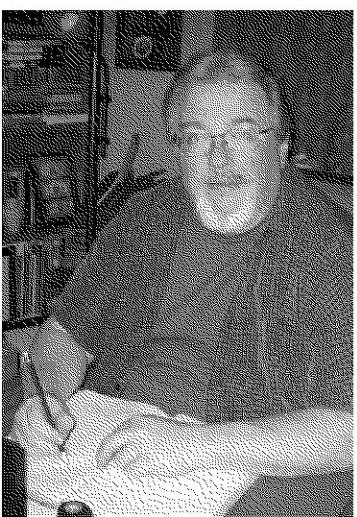

When we were winding down our hour-long talk, Tim said something that really struck a cord with me. He said, "Most people, when they see me, they only see the wheelchair. They don't actually see what type of person is sitting in it, what that person's goals are and what he might be capable of."

Thank you Tim, for opening my eyes to exactly what type of person you are, sitting there in your wheelchair. I hope and pray that you are able to raise the money you need to get as many treatments as necessary, and one day be able to get up and walk away from that wheelchair.

The First School in Adair County

The first school in what was to become Adair County was taught in 1793 at Casey's Old Station, Tucker's Station, and Casey's New Station. The teacher who traveled between the three stations or forts was Arthur Hopkins, native of Virginia. He stated in a court document in the circuit clerk's records that he performed the services "to the general, unanimous and perfect satisfaction of all his employers, and at the hazard and peril of his life, because the whole of this part of the country, the South side of Greensburg, the vicinity of the three aforesaid stations, was entirely at that time open and exposed to the merciless attack and depredations of the savage Indian tribes, who were then inimical to, and at open war with the United States and all her citizens."

The First Teacher

In 1793 Colonel William Casey caused to be opened and taught the first school ever taught within the bounds of Adair County. He employed Arthur Hopkins, who afterwards resided at Lexington, to teach school for the period of one year in Casey's and Butler's Stations, Tucker's Station, and Casey's Station on Butler's Fork. For this service Casey agreed to pay Hopkins fourteen pounds, and Isaac Butler, John Reynolds, Francis Pelham, John Harvey, Henry Rennick, and William Butler jointly agreed to pay him ten pounds. The scarcity of money in the county at the time is obvious, not only in the meager salary, but the manner of its payment. When the year ended, Isaac Butler, William Butler, Reynolds, Pelham, Harvey, and Rennick paid the teacher the ten pounds, which they had promised, by giving to him notes on Casey for the amounts due them for their services as spies against the Indians.

Casey was then the militia commander of the county. Casey paid the twenty-four pounds due Hopkins by conveying land to him. The lands, which were conveyed by Casey to Hopkins, were later levied upon and sold to satisfy an execution, and Benjamin Lampton purchased the land.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

SEPTEMBER IS CHILDHOOD OBESITY AWARENESS MONTH

Dear Editor,

As America wrangles daunting issues, no challenge is more urgent than protecting the health and wellbeing of our children—now, and as they grow.

Over the past several decades we have witnessed childhood obesity grow to epidemic proportions. More than 23 million children and teenagers are obese or overweight. That's roughly one child in every three. Kentucky has the third-highest childhood obesity rate in the country.

These youngsters risk developing serious health problems in adulthood, such as heart disease, type 2 diabetes, stroke and several types of cancer. The financial impact is a sobering $14 billion per year in direct health care costs alone. The psychosocial consequences can hinder these kids academically and socially.

Everyone can play an important role in eliminating Childhood Obesity; small steps can start making the difference. Parents, health care providers, educators, civic leaders and organizations have programs and activities to promote healthy eating and physical activity.

The effort begins at home. Parents have enormous influence over their children's lifestyles by the example they set and the decisions they make. By modeling healthy eating and physically active lifestyles, we can set our children on the road to a lifetime of good habits.

The fight against childhood obesity gains momentum in September and the results can last a lifetime. All children deserve a healthy start in life; it's our responsibility to make that possible. Learn more at www.lcdhd.org or www.COAM-month.org.

Attorney General Jack Conway

Attorney General Conway Kicks Off Fall Prescription Drug Abuse Awareness Program's

Keep Kentucky Kids Safe, partners Host, program in Marshall County

Attorney General Conway and his Keep Kentucky Kids Safe partners are again traveling the state to warn Kentucky kids about the dangers of abusing prescription pills. Joined by Van Ingram, the Executive Director of the Kentucky Office of Drug Control Policy, and concerned parent Mike Donta, General Conway spoke to hundreds of students at Marshall County's Benton Middle School today about the devastating toll prescription drug abuse is having on Kentucky.

"Three people will die today in Kentucky from a prescription drug overdose," General Conway said. "That's more than 1,000 deaths a year. Kentucky loses more people to overdoses than traffic accidents. We cannot afford to lose another generation to this epidemic." Non-medical use or abuse of prescription drugs is the fastest-growing drug problem in the United States. According to an analysis by Forbes Magazine, Kentucky is the fourth most-medicated state in the country.

The 2010 Kentucky Incentives for Prevention (KIP) Survey finds that the highest rate of prescription drug use among 10th graders was in communities in Western Kentucky. The Barren River and Pennyryle regions had the highest usage among sophomores at 9.1 percent and 8.1 percent respectively, followed by 7.7 percent in the Purchase area. "One of our biggest problems in deterring drug abuse is the use of prescription medications by students who were not prescribed the drug," said Ruthetta Buchanan, Interim Superintendent of Marshall County Schools. "Prescription meds are readily available in home medicine cabinets and often difficult to detect. Prescription drug abuse is no longer just a problem isolated to Eastern Kentucky, but one being felt in communities here in Western Kentucky and across the state." The severity of Kentucky's prescription drug epidemic is also reflected in just released statistics on the number of babies born addicted to prescription painkillers. "Hospitalization for addicted newborns soared from 29 in 2000 to 730 last year," said Ingram, who requested the statistics from the Kentucky Injury Prevention and Research Center. "That's a more than 2,400 percent increase. By continuing to warn students across Kentucky about the dangers of prescription drug abuse, I am confident we can stop this epidemic and protect the next generation of Kentuckians."

Attorney General Conway launched Keep Kentucky Kids Safe in 2010 with the Kentucky Justice Cabinet and its Office of Drug Control Policy, Kentucky Pharmacists Association, National Association of Drug Diversion Investigators (NADDI), Operation UNITE and Dr. Karen Shay and Lynn Kissick, two mothers from Morehead, Ky. who lost their daughters to prescription drug overdoses. Shay, Kissick and Mike Donta, of Ashland, Ky. are among a growing number of parents who are participating in the statewide initiative. "Kids have an important choice to make," said Donta, whose son Michael died in 2010 after a long battle with prescription drug addiction. "If they choose to take prescription pills that are not prescribed to them by a doctor, there is a good chance they will end up like my son. No parent should have to endure the heartache of burying a child."

To date, the Keep Kentucky Kids Safe partners have held prevention assemblies in nearly two-dozen schools across the Commonwealth, alerting nearly 15,000 students to the deadly consequences of prescription pill abuse. Prescription Drug Diversion Efforts In addition to his public awareness efforts, Attorney General Conway worked closely with Governor Beshear, House Speaker Stumbo and other lawmakers to win passage of landmark legislation to prevent the abuse and diversion of prescription pills in the Commonwealth. Earlier this week, General Conway joined the Governor, law enforcement and representatives from medical licensure boards to discuss the recent implementation of House Bill 1 and how it will save lives by expanding the Kentucky All Schedule Prescription Electronic Reporting system (KASPER) and cracking down on illegal pill mills.

In 2009, Attorney General Conway launched Kentucky's first and only statewide Prescription Drug Abuse Task Force. The task force has been involved in more than 130 prescription drug diversion investigations, including Operation Flamingo Road, the state's largest prescription drug bust that resulted in the arrests of more than 500 people. General Conway also reached across party lines to work with Florida's Attorney General Pam Bondi to see that her state implemented an electronic prescription drug monitoring system similar to Kentucky's KASPER system. The two continue to work closely to combat prescription drug abuse in their respective states and nationally. Generals Conway and Bondi are co-chairing the National Association of Attorneys General (NAAG) Substance Abuse Committee and are committed to ensuring that all 50 states have prescription drug monitoring programs and that all of the programs can share data across state lines. They've also testified together in front of Congress about the explosion of prescription drug abuse.

Additionally, the Attorney General's office is a member of the Interstate Prescription Drug Task Force that is working with neighboring states, like Ohio, Tennessee and West Virginia, to shut down the prescription drug pipeline into Kentucky. For more information on General Conway's drug diversion efforts and the Keep Kentucky Kids Safe program, please visit <http://ag.ky.gov/rxabuse.htm>. A Russell Springs, Kentucky man was indicted by a federal grand jury meeting in Bowling Green, Kentucky yesterday on a single charge of conspiracy to engage in contraband cigarette trafficking announced David J. Hale, United States Attorney for the Western District of Kentucky.

David B. Cooper, age 46, is charged with knowingly conspiring to commit an offense against the United States by means of possession and receipt of contraband cigarettes. According to the indictment, between March 2007 and August 2007 in Russell County, Kentucky and elsewhere, the defendant Cooper, as owner and operator of DS Marketing, LLC, knowingly possessed contraband cigarettes in quantities greater than 10,000, which bore no evidence of the payment of the applicable state excise tax stamps.

Further, from March of 2007 to August 2007, Cooper's company, DS Marketing, located in Russell Springs, Kentucky, was an unlicensed tobacco distribution company that sold and shipped unstamped cigarettes to retail customers primarily through mail order and telephone. The indictment further alleges that from March 2007 to about August 2007, Cooper and his co-conspirators defrauded the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and other states, of approximately $97,487.80 in state excise, sales, and use taxes, including approximately $43,241.97 that involved the sale of unstamped cigarettes manufactured by Cooper's company Tantus Tobacco, LLC, located in Russell Springs, Kentucky.

If convicted at trial, Cooper faces no more than five years in prison, a $250,000 fine, and a three year period of supervised release. He is scheduled to appear before Magistrate Judge H. Brent Brennenstuhl, in Bowling Green, on October 9th at 11:00 a.m.

This case being prosecuted by Special Assistant United States Attorney Micah R. Reynier and was investigated by Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF).

The indictment of a person by a Grand Jury is an accusation only and that person is presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty.

Stem Cell Procedure

Roy knows that Dr. Stanblock's procedure does work, as he has already had one of the treatments, in June 2010, and has benefited greatly from it.

"I've been able to add muscle mass to my upper body, and it has loosened up the muscles in my hands and arms, making them quite a bit more flexible," Roy explained. "It has also helped tremendously with my insomnia. I used to not be able to sleep more than three or four hours a night, now I get a good eight hours of sleep every night."

Now, the Roys hope that a second treatment might actually put Tim Jr. on his feet.

"Dr. Stanblock treats people not only with cerebral palsy, but stroke victims, patients with multiple sclerosis, arthritis, etc.," grandmother Linda Roy explained. "And, his work has shown that patients who receive multiple stem cell treatments are the ones that show the most improvement."

However, because the treatment provided by Dr. Stanblock is deemed "experimental" by medical standards, no insurance – either Medicaid such as Tim is covered by, or private insurers – will pay for the procedure, leaving the Roys to come up with the roughly $20,000 needed to cover the cost of the trip to California and the medical procedure.

The benefit supper and auction this Saturday at Trinity United Methodist Church's Life Center will kick off the effort to raise money to send Roy and his grandmother back to California. (See box on the front page for full details.)

"I'm normally not the type of person to ask for help, but when it comes to a person's health, you have to," Linda Roy said, noting that her daughter, Bobbi Long, covered the cost of the first treatment but can't pay for this one too.

"I've put this off as long as I could trying to figure out how we could do it by ourselves," Tim noted. "I need to do this now so that in the long run I'll be a lesser burden on society."

One does not have to be around Roy very long to determine that he definitely does not want to be a burden to society, nor does he want to be "babied" or coddled because of his disabilities. His grandmother said that he would get mad at his teachers while he was going to school when they would try to get him to take easier classes, or "just do enough to get by."

"The only limitations I have is walking, dressing myself, and things like that," Tim said. "I enjoy doing things that normal people do, such as working out with weights, practicing kung fu (he has a black belt in the martial art), hunting, and working on the computer."

Roy said that if the stem cell treatment can help free him from his wheelchair, it would also improve his chances of getting a job – something that he really wants to do. He graduated from Lindsey Wilson College with a double major in history and criminal justice, so he has the qualifications.

Practice Emergency Earthquake/Fire Drill

The Adair County Middle School and Adair emergency community responders will be conducting a practice emergency earthquake/fire drill on Thursday, September 27.

The Adair County School District will be conducting an emergency earthquake/fire drill test exercise at Adair County Middle and the band facility starting at around 8:00 a.m. on Thursday, September 27, 2012. This drill will be held in partnership with the Adair County Emergency Management Director, Greg Thomas and emergency community responders.

The objective of this test exercise is to practice school and community emergency response procedures. During the time of the drill from 8:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. no one will be allowed into the Adair Middle School campus area while school personnel, students and emergency responders work through this exercise.

Please don't be alarmed when you see emergency vehicles (fire, ambulance, police, Air Evac) at the Adair Middle School during this practice exercise on the morning of Thursday, September 27. This is only a practice drill.

At the end of the practice emergency response exercise, school personnel and emergency responders will evaluate and discuss ways to improve school and community emergency response procedures.

We appreciate and thank community responders and school personnel who continually strive to enhance student safety.

Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery Will Host 5th Annual Reaching for Rainbows Special Kids Fishing Derby on Wednesday September 26th

If there's a child in your life who loves to fish, there's a special event at Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery (NFH) aimed to get them hooked and it won't cost you a dime. Large rainbow trout will be waiting in Hatchery Creek at the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service wheelchair-accessible facility, when children from area schools arrive for the fifth annual Special Kids Fishing Derby. On Wednesday, September 26th, 2012 from 9 a.m. – 12 a.m. CST, Wolf Creek NFH will sponsor the 5th Annual Reaching for Rainbows Special Kids Fishing Derby for students from Russell and Clinton counties.

With the help of volunteers, these children have a safe and comfortable environment to enjoy the outdoors. The fishing derby is a great opportunity for kids to learn about the great outdoors and get in the recommended 60 minutes of daily activity. What better way to enjoy the outdoors than with a day of fishing!

The event is free and open to area students who are severely disabled and have extra special needs. Hamburgers and other refreshments will be provided as will prizes. All Kentucky Sport Fishing Regulations will apply. All bait and tackle will be supplied or participants can bring their own. Pre-registration will be conducted through the local school district and is required for event attendance.

The event coincides with the annual National Hunting and Fishing Day (NHFD) which is scheduled for Saturday, September 22nd, 2012. Congress formalized National Hunting and Fishing Day in 1971 as a way to recognize hunters, anglers and conservation. This nationwide effort aims to bring national recognition and media attention to the value of hunting and fishing and reinforce their role in conservation. To learn more about NHFD, please visit the event website: www.nhfd.org.

Wolf Creek NFH works to increase participation in angling and other outdoor activities. For more information on this event or volunteer opportunities at Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery, please contact: Kristi Pupak, Environmental Education/Outreach Specialist, at 270-343-3797 or via email: kristina_pupak@fws.gov

Camber Hears About PRIDE Program, Meets Hospital's CEO

By Wes Feece

The Columbia-Adair County Chamber of Commerce met for their monthly meeting at the Pines at Lindsey Wilson Tuesday and heard from County Judge Executive Ann Melton, Melton's administrative assistant Lisa Greer, and PRIDE program director Jennifer Johnson about environmental issues in Adair County.

"PRIDE passes down resources to the local community," explained Johnson. "We provide educational grants to schools to do environmental projects." In addition to working with schools, PRIDE works with local volunteer coordinators to facilitate environmental efforts within the local community. Johnson works with coordinators A.L. Sinclair, Lisa Lee, and Rhonda Loy in Adair County.

"I encourage you to get involved in your community," Johnson urged. "It's all about changing your habits." Johnson went on to give an example of a simple change in habits that can reduce electricity use. She suggested unplugging cell phone chargers from the wall when they are not in use. They use electricity even when a phone isn't hooked up.

Following Johnson's address Ann Melton presented some statistics on local cleanups. Over the past several years, the county, working in conjunction with PRIDE, has picked up trash along nearly three thousand miles of roadsides, properly disposed of over 24,000 tires, and cleaned up and removed 56 dumps within Adair County. There are now only three known dumps in the county that haven't been redeemed, and preparations are being made to clean those up in the near future.

Lisa Greer spoke about going into classrooms and talking to kids about the environment, something she and Melton have done about 40 times now. "They (the students) absorb it like sponges," Greer said. "And they go home and tell their parents what they've learned."

PRIDE, an acronym for Personal Responsibility In a Desirable Environment, was founded in 1997 and currently serves 38 counties across Kentucky.

In other business at Tuesday's Chamber meeting the Chamber:

•Heard from Westlake Regional Hospital's new CEO, David Rasmussen, about the well-documented challenges the hospital is facing, as well as how he plans to meet those challenges.

"It was a rapid change, but one that I'm happy to be a part of," said Rasmussen, in reference to joining on at Westlake at the end of August. "Great people are working hard to make sure it's going to succeed."

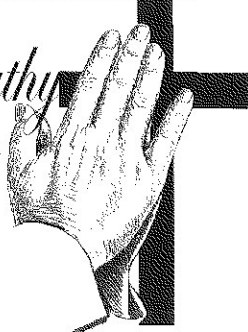

Rasmussen went on. "It's a good spirit that's there, and it's not one of defeat," he said. "I've looked over our staff, and we have great doctors. We've been working hard internally to get things right. We need the community to get behind us."

•Heard from guest speaker Eric West, director of marketing at Duo-County Telecom. West explained a little about the history of Duo-County, which has been around since it started offering telephone services to county residents in 1954.

"We're proud to serve this community," West said. "We really want to thank every one of our businesses that have switched to us as their provider."

•Approved the minutes of the August Chamber meeting.

National Paper Clover Campaign Continues Support of Adair County 4-H Youth

Today, National 4-H Council announced the launch of the fall 2012 4-H Paper Clover Campaign in partnership with Tractor Supply Company (TSC). This event marks the beginning of the third year of collaboration between the organizations on the national in-store fundraiser, benefiting state and local 4H programming in each of the communities where a TSC or Del's Farm and Feed Supply store is located.

The fall 2012 4-H Paper Clover Campaign will take place September 19 through September 30, 2012. Shoppers at the Columbia TSC store will have the opportunity to support 4-H in Adair County by purchasing paper clovers for a $1 or more at checkout. All funds raised will be donated to 4-H, and will support 4-H youth development program activities in Adair County.

"Through this highly impactful community event, we have been able to raise funds nationally over the past few years for thousands of 4-H youth across the country," said Donald T. Floyd Jr., president and CEO of National 4-H Council. "We are more than pleased with the success of the 4-H Paper Clover Campaign, and we are even more honored to continue the tremendous partnership that drives support for 4-H clubs and programs in the communities of more than 1,000 Tractor Supply Company and Del's Farm and Feed Supply stores."

In just two years, the TSC 4-H Paper Clover Campaign has provided more than $1.6 million to 4-H across the country, with 70 percent of the funds returning to state and local 4-H programs. The effort has provided direct support for local camps, after-school programs and other activities, and has granted scholarships to these events that youth can explore their interests in everything from animal science to robotics.

"Our Paper Clover efforts are one of the key ways our stores can give back to the community," said John Wendler, senior vice president of Marketing for Tractor Supply Company. "By providing essential funding for hundreds of thousands of 4-H young people, we are able to support local organizations that are important to both our customer and our Team Members. We're proud to help improve the many communities in which we have stores through our partnership with 4-H. That is what Tractor Supply is all about."

This year, funds donated during the national campaign will be tracked online and recorded by state and by store. Visit www.tractorsupply.com/4-H, for more information on the fall 2012 4-H Paper Clover Campaign and to view the donation tracker.

AIR AT HEARTLAND CONFERENCE

Kim Goodin's Lady Indian golf team traveled to Springfield last Tuesday evening for the Heartland Conference Tournament and finished in third place with a score of 406.

Ashley Goodin led the Tribe, and took home fourth place among individuals with a score of 81. The fourth place score for Goodin was good enough to earn her a spot on the All-Heartland Conference Team.

Junior Rachel Phipps added a 102 to the scorecard, Abby Royce chipped in a 109, and Hailey Taylor rounded out the scoring with a 114.

For Ashley Goodin's performance, coupled with her second place showing in the Lady Raider Invitational the previous Saturday, she was named Total Fitness Connection's Athlete of the Week, and was spotlighted on WBKO's 6 p.m. sports telecast last Thursday. For the Athlete of the Week honor, Goodin was awarded a certificate and was nominated for Athlete of the Year.

AIR V CLINTON & CUMBERLAND COUNTY

The Lady Indians returned to the course last Thursday and fired their best round of the season, 186, en route to victories over both Cumberland County and Clinton County.

"I am extremely proud of our team today," said Coach Kim Goodin. "We are playing well at the right time."

Senior Ashley Goodin was the star for the Tribe once again, as she led the way with a score of 42. Junior Rachel Phipps wasn't far off Goodin's pace, chipping in a 44 to the winning effort. Senior Abby Royce contributed a 46. Hailey Taylor's 54, Madison Bell's 58, and Lauren McQuaide's 71 rounded out the scorecard for the Lady Indians.

"Our assistant coach, Lauren Goodin, has really been stressing goal setting for each hole," Goodin said. "I believe our girls are buying into it."

Kentucky A Field Order for September is a Hunting Application Month

The application deadline for quota deer, bear, small game and waterfowl hunts is midnight (CST) Sept. 30, 2012. Applications for the deer, small game and waterfowl hunts can be made 24 hours a day by either calling toll-free 1-877-598-2401, or going online at fw.ky.gov. Applications for the 2012 bear quota hunt with dogs may only be submitted online.

"Persons who apply online, and provide an e-mail address, will receive a confirmation by return e-mail," said Patrick O'Connell, information systems manager for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Applying online is fast and easy and increases the accuracy of the application."

This season hunters have a choice of 31 quota deer hunts, including hunts on two new areas -- Veterans Memorial Wildlife Management Area (WMA) in Scott County on Nov. 3-4 with 60 hunt slots and Big Rivers WMA & State Forest in Union County on Nov. 10-11 with 40 hunt slots. Applicants for quota deer hunts have the option to pick a first and second hunt choice, but may be drawn to participate in only one quota hunt. Kentucky's first ever bear quota hunt with dogs will be held Dec. 17 through Dec. 21, 2012, if the harvest quota of 10 bears (or five females) is not met during the regular bear season. To apply for this new quota bear hunt, houndsmen must have purchased a 2012 Bear Chase permit.

Small game hunters can apply for pheasant quota hunts on three WMAs -- Green River Lake, Clay, and Yellowbank. The pheasant quota hunt at Yellowbank is a new hunt for 2012, with three hunt dates: Dec. 14, 15 and 16.

There will also be six wild quail quota hunts on Peabody WMA. The date of the mentor hunt is Nov. 24. Four upland bird quota hunts will be held on Clay WMA on Nov. 7, Nov. 18, Dec. 9 and Dec. 18. Hunters may take bobwhite quail, ruffed grouse and woodcock during the upland bird quota hunts, when the seasons for all three species are open. Woodcock season ends Dec. 15. Waterfowl hunters may apply for quota hunts on Ballard WMA and Sloughs WMA, which will be held during the fall and winter duck and goose seasons.

Waterfowl quota hunts at Ballard WMA are held on Wednesdays through Sundays, and hunters may apply for individual days. At Sloughs WMA, quota hunts are held seven days a week, but hunters must apply for a block of days.

The dates for these quota hunts are on the online application. To get other details of these quota waterfowl hunts, go online to fw.ky.gov. Click on hunting, trapping and wildlife, then game animals followed by waterfowl and other migratory birds. Later in the fall on Nov. 15-30, hunters can go online to the license page of the department's website at fw.ky.gov to apply for a sandhill crane hunting permit. No applications will be taken by telephone. For the 2012-13 season, 400 permits will be awarded through a lottery drawing. Kentucky's 30-day season is Dec. 15 through Jan. 13, 2013. Sandhill crane hunting permits are not transferable.

Applicants for all quota hunts can check to see if they were drawn on Oct. 8, when a link will be posted on fw.ky.gov. Get out this fall and enjoy one of these quota hunts. They provide some of the best hunting opportunities found in Kentucky.

Indians Take Down Raiders 37-16

BY WES FEEZE

The Adair County football team traveled to Hart County this past Friday to take on the Raiders, and reeled off their fourth win in a row for the first time since 2003, running away to a 37-16 victory behind a huge night from Derek Grant.

The senior running back tallied over 100 yards in each half, carried the ball 25 times for four TDs, and pounded out 260 yards on the ground.

"We played pretty sound football," said Head Coach Travis Gay. "It was nice to get a district win."

Hart County jumped out to an early 8-0 lead on their first possession, and the lead held throughout the first quarter. Adair's first possession ended with an Alex Nickerson punt, and the Tribe's second chance with the ball was squandered when Jake Hixson's pass was intercepted.

Adair finally found their groove offensively in the second, and scored their first points with 10:25 in the quarter when Grant found the end zone from a yard out. Nickerson's extra point brought the score within one, 8-7.

After Hart turned the ball over on downs on their following possession, the Indians hit paydirt again with Grant, as he carried one into the end zone from three yards out. The lead moved to 14-8 following Nickerson's point after.

Adair's defense really turned up the heat in the second. Will Hixson led the way, getting into the Hart backfield on numerous occasions and contributing to several tackles for loss. "We're pretty happy with our defensive performance," Gay said.

The game started to get away from Hart County in the third. Still trailing 14-8, and with the ball on their own four yard line, Hart's center snapped the ball well over his quarterback's head, out of the end zone for a safety.

ACHS Boys Golf Team Continues To Play Well

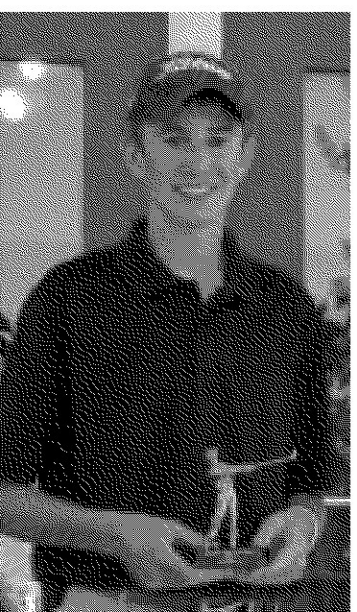

BY WES FEEZE

AIR AT HEARTLAND CONFERENCE

The ACHS golf team traveled to Lincoln Homestead State Park in Springfield last Tuesday for the Heartland Conference Tournament and finished in second place despite Riley Grant and Alex Durham finishing first and second, respectively, in individual scoring.

Adair's four-man score of 313 tied Taylor County for the low score in the tournament, but the tiebreaker went to each team's fifth man score, and Corey Hundley's 93 put the Tribe on the short end of the stick.

"We came up one shot short today," stated Coach Steve Burton. "Our kids battled to the very end; we just didn't play our best golf today and it cost us."

Riley Grant

Riley Grant took home the individual championship with an excellent 18-hole score of 74. Teammate Alex Durham was right on Grant's heels, and his 76 was good enough for second place. Daniel Rarey's 80 and Trey Garmon's 83 rounded out the scorecard for the Indians.

"Riley was terrific today and Alex played solidly, but we were not able to put four scores in the 70's," Burton remarked. "In order to beat quality teams, you have to be able to play in the 70's as a team and we were not able to do that today."

AIR V GLASGOW

Adair returned to the course last Wednesday against Glasgow and fell to the Scotties 149-159 for their first match-play loss of the season.

"Hats off to Glasgow today," said Coach Steve Burton. "They were really fired up today to play us and they played an excellent round of golf."

Alex Durham led the way for the Tribe with a 37 for the day. Riley Grant and Daniel Rarey carded scores of 40, Trey Garmon contributed a 42, and Austin Cundiff rounded out the scorecard with a 45.

"It was definitely more about what [Glasgow] did instead of what we didn't do," Burton said. "They were just a better team today, but we will take the defeat and learn from it and it will make us work that much harder."

With the loss the Indians match-play record moved to 16-1 on the season.

The JV Indians remained unbeaten on the season as they topped Glasgow's junior varsity squad 182-186. Corey Hundley's 41 paced the Tribe, while Tanner Garmon contributed a 45. Jameson Miller and Zach Pyles each added 48's, and Jacob Keltner's 52 rounded out the scorecard.

The win moved the junior varsity Indians' record to 7-0-1.

AIR V CUMBERLAND COUNTY

The Indians were on the course for the third consecutive day last Thursday, this time at home versus Cumberland County, and put together one of their best rounds of the year as they trounced the Panthers, 148-208, getting back into the winning groove after suffering their first loss of the year the day before.

"In my opinion, the true sign of a great team is how you come back after a loss," said Coach Steve Burton. "I believe our kids more than passed that test today."

The Tribe placed five scores in the 30's on the day, and Cumberland County simply couldn't match Adair's balanced effort. Alex Durham fired a one under par 35 to lead the way for the Indians. Daniel Rarey was just a couple strokes behind Durham with a 37, while Riley Grant and Corey Hundley each carded 38's. The Garmon brothers, Trey and Tanner, added a 39 and a 42, respectively.

Jacob Keltner's 44, Zach Pyles' 45, Jameson Miller's 53, Joseph Farmer's 57, and Bryce Farris' 60 rounded out the scoring for Adair.

"From top to bottom, this was the best round of golf we have played all year," Burton said. "We put 5 scores in the 30's today, and I don't believe there are too many teams in the state that can make that claim. This is the time of year when you want to play your best and we definitely showed signs of that today."

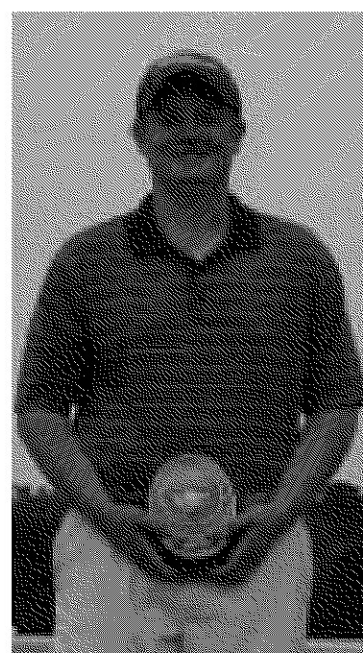

AIR AT GLASGOW INVITATIONAL

Saturday the Tribe traveled to Glasgow for the Glasgow invitational, and while the team finished third in the 18-team field, Alex Durham stole the show, as the senior sank a putt from 20 feet out to clinch the individual title.

Durham carded a one under par 70 to take the individual crown. "Alex played great today," said Coach Steve Burton. "To win in the fashion that he did was extremely impressive."

Riley Grant added a 77 to Durham's effort, while Daniel Rarey contributed an 80. Corey Hundley's 83 and Trey Garmon's 90 rounded out the Indian scorecard to bring their team score to 310 for the day.

"We played really well today -- I am proud of our effort," Burton said. "We are playing our best golf of the season right now and that is always good heading into postseason play."

AGRICULTURAL SAFETY & HEALTH... A FAMILY AFFAIR

National Farm Safety & Health Week
September 16 - 22, 2012

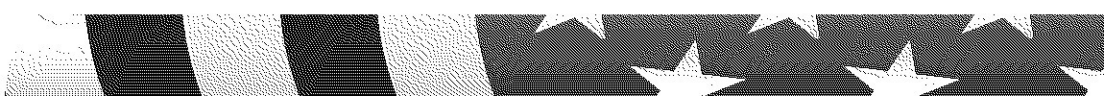

Presidential Proclamation

President Obama Proclaims September 16 – 22, 2012 National Farm Safety And Health Week

Each year, since 1944, the third week in September has been recognized as National Farm Safety& Health Week. For 2012, National Farm Safety & Health Week is September 16 – 22; the theme is Agricultural Safety & Health...A Family Affair.

This recognition began as an annual promotion by the National Safety Council (NSC) and has been proclaimed as such by each sitting U.S. President since Franklin D. Roosevelt who signed the first document. This proclamation appears on the White House web site the first week in September. A partner of the NSC, the National Education Center for Agricultural Safety (NECAS), continues this tradition.

This year's theme for National Farm Safety & Health Week (NFSHW) has a focus on the foundation of agriculture throughout the world – the farm family. Although farming in many regions is moving toward large operations and corporate endeavors, a great percentage of the agrarian industry is still based in the family unit. Agriculture continues to rank as one of the most dangerous occupations in North America. According to the National Education Center for Agricultural Safety (NECAS), there were 596 deaths and 70,000 disabling injuries attributed to agriculture in 2010. As we recognize family farms, large and small, join us in honoring those who work so hard to feed the world.

Progressive Agric ult re Fo p dation Shares Safety Tips About Children Operating All-Terrain Vehicles

National Farm Safety and Health Week is a good time for parents and children to review safety tips on the proper way to ride and operate all-terrain vehicles.

All-terrain vehicles (ATVs), though helpful tools on farms and in rural areas, can be extremely dangerous, especially for children. If not properly operated, ATVs can cause severe injury or even death to their operators. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission attributes nearly 6,500 deaths over the last 23 years to ATV accidents. More than 2,000 of those deaths involved children under the age of 16. "Children under the age of 16 shouldn't drive ATVs, and those who are old enough should know how to properly operate the vehicle before using it," says Bernard Geschke, program specialist for Progressive Agriculture Foundation® (PAF).

If children are old enough to drive or ride, Geschke suggests complying with the following safety precautions:

1) Never ride on paved roads. By traveling on the same road as cars, the ATV driver runs the risk of being hit. Ride only on designated trails.

2) Only one person should be allowed to drive an ATV, with no passengers.

3) Drivers should be at least 16 years old. ATVs are not appropriate for all ages.

4) Always wear a helmet, long sleeves, long pants, boots, goggles and gloves. These will protect riders and drivers in the case of a collision or mishap.

5) Take an ATV safety course. The website www.ATVSafety.org offers courses to get drivers up to speed on proper safety practices.

6) Make sure the ATV is the appropriate size for the rider. Information about properly sizing ATVs may also be found at www.ATVSafety.org. Safety tips such as these are examples of the things children learn when they attend Progressive Agriculture Safety Days®, which are held each year in more than 400 local communities throughout North America.

Safety Days are fun, hands-on, one-day events that provide children with education and training that can keep them and those around them safer and healthier on a farm or ranch, and at home. The program explores more than 30 topics, including ATVs, firearms, water/outdoor safety and knife safety. PAF provides the curriculum, coordinator training, take-home bags, T-shirts and other resources to help make the Safety Days a reality. PAF is committed to providing farm and ranch safety and health education to children across rural America in an effort to reduce farm- or ranch-related injuries and death. About Progressive Agriculture Foundation The Progressive Agriculture Safety Day program is the largest rural safety and health education program for children in North America and is a program of the Progressive Agriculture Foundation, a 501(c)(3) charitable foundation. The Foundation's mission is to provide education and training to make farm, ranch and rural life safer and healthier for children and their communities. In 2008, PAF was awarded the Better Business Bureau Wise Giving Alliance National Charity Seal, demonstrating its commitment to accountability and ethical practices. Safety Day applications are due each July 15 for Safety Days that will be conducted the following calendar year.

Fall Harvest Is Time to Remind Children of the Dangers Posed by Grain at the Farm

National Farm Safety and Health Week is good time for parents to educate children on the dangers of grain.

The 2012 harvest will soon be under way, and during National Farm Safety and Health Week, it is a good time to remind children how dangerous grain can be during harvest and throughout the year as it is transported and stored on the farm. Grain safety is often a high-priority topic during Progressive Agriculture Safety Days®, which teaches children 8 to 13 years of age things they need to know to remain safe and healthy on a farm or ranch.

Though grain may not seem to be an obvious risk on a farm or ranch, the dangers of grain during harvest, transport and storage may be deadly. Adults year from grain incidents that are highly preventable. 2010 was a record year for grain-related deaths. Fifty-one grain accidents occurred and 25 people died -- five being children under the age of 16. The most common occurrences include suffocation when grain bridges collapse, or being trapped by flowing grain or by an avalanche of a vertical grain wall.

Grain safety is a high-priority topic.

In a matter of 10 seconds, one can lose their life in flowing grain, says Bernard Geschke, program specialist for the Progressive Agriculture Foundation® (PAF). Across agriculture, grain-related deaths occur far too often, and we believe it is critical to have this often unrecognized danger be a

What can parents teach their children to help them avoid a grain-related injury or death?

1. Always stay out of and away from grain bins and grain wagons even if grain isn't flowing. Bridged grain can unexpectedly collapse and submerge humans. It only takes three or four seconds for a human to become completely helpless in flowing grain.

2. Never try to save someone who is being entrapped by going into the grain yourself. Attempting to rescue someone without proper equipment and assistance may result in you being entrapped as well.

3. Always use a harness or rope and have a spotter when walking or working around grain. This way, your spotter can help pull you to safety or

Preparing for Winter Feeding

Timely rains this month have given pastures another flush of growth. While warm season grasses such as crabgrass and johnson grass are slowing down, conditions for orchard grass and fescue are ideal and their growth will continue into November given timely rains. While hopefully most are several weeks away from having to start feeding hay, here are a few things to consider in the mean time.

Make final cutting or grazing of johnson grass prior to frost. Johnson grass is known to accumulate nitrates and prussic acid after a frost; both of which are toxic to livestock. The easiest way to avoid these risks is to harvest prior to frost.

Now is a great time to have forages tested to develop the winter feeding plan. After being tested, forages can be allocated based on animal nutrient requirements. Fall calving cows and growing calves need the greatest amount of nutrients and therefore should receive the best quality of forages available. Spring calving cows whose calves have been weaned have the lowest nutrient requirements and may be allocated lower quality hay given their body condition is good. Forage testing can also identify potential shortages of nutrients such as protein, energy, or minerals. If shortages exist, a supplement program can be developed to address the issue.

One of the biggest challenges of winter feeding is minimizing hay loss and mud. Hay rings or feeders and a filter fabric pad with a 6-8 inch layer of rock can go a long way in reducing both. Hay losses without feeders can be as high as 30-45%. Muddy conditions alone can cause decreases in feed efficiencies of up to 30%. Mud around the feeding area makes it difficult for cattle to eat, therefore reducing intake. Cattle in muddy conditions are also observed to eat fewer, but larger meals. The rumen works most efficiently when fed many small meals throughout the day.

As steel prices have risen in past years, so have cattle feeders. This has gotten many producers to looking at alternative feeders for cattle. One of the most interesting hay feeders I've seen are made from plastic tubing. While not break-proof, these feeders will not rust. However more ease must be taken when moving and repairs of broken bolts will be needed periodically. If you have an interesting idea for feeding hay or would like more information on winter feeding, contact the Adair County Cooperative Extension Service at 384-2317.

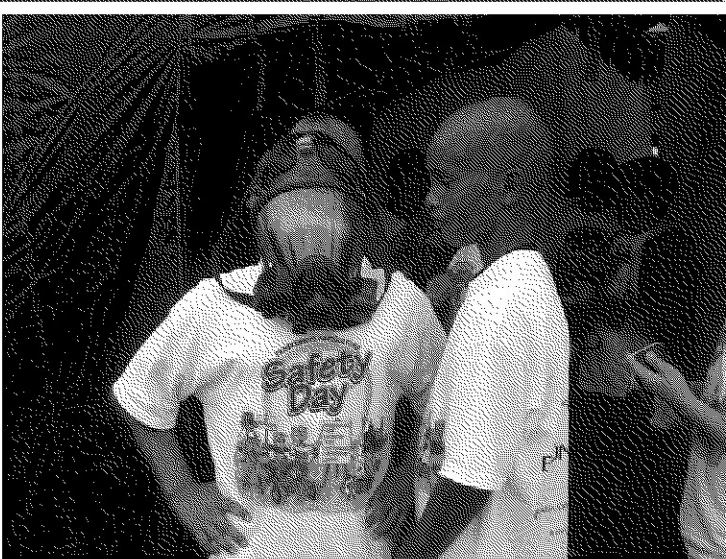

Adair County Cattlemen's Picnic-Monday - September 24

category. The Indian band took home the highest scores in musical performance, musical effect, visual performance, visual effect, percussion, and guard.

Adair's score of 69.7 in the finals topped Mercer County's second place 67.6 by more than two full points.

The win was a solid first step for the band, as they will travel next weekend to Papa John's Stadium in Louisville for the Bands of America Regional Competition.

"This is a nationally recognized event," Case said. "So we know we're going to have to do our best."

"We formed a committee to explore all the pros and cons of a bingo operation," Bright noted. "We traveled to other bingo operations in the area and looked at them before making our decision."

The bingo operation will be run solely by band booster members, and all will be strictly volunteers. Each person who works at the bingo hall will have undergone training through the Department of Charitable Gaming to understand the regulations that govern charitable gaming in the state.

The boosters will offer a variety of bingo games similar to those offered at other halls: regular bingo - horizontal, vertical, diagonal, four corners and postage stamps - and other games such as three postage stamps, eight states and explosion. They will also offer a signature game, "Land of the Triangle," to recognize the Adair County Band's long-time emblem. They will also be selling pull tabs.

"We'll also be having some special nights as we go along, and will announce them later on," Herbst noted.

The amount of prize money awarded each night will vary Herbst said, and will be governed by state regulations.

"If we have under 125 players, $3,800 will be distributed," he explained. "If have over 125 players, $5,000 will be given out. The state caps the amount that can be given away during any one session at $5,000."

Herbst said that the boosters are both "excited and anxious" about starting the bingo operation.

"We're taking on a big endeavor, and you don't know how it's going to turn out," he said. "But, we feel confident we can turn it into a successful fund raiser for the band."

"There are two keys for us to have a successful operation. Number one is to have enough band booster members to volunteer to help put bingo on, and number two, offer a program that attracts people to come play bingo at our bingo hall."

By having a year-round bingo operation, Herbst said that they are hoping the money generated by it will eliminate the majority of the fund raisers the boosters are constantly having to do in order to support the band.

"The boosters must raise between $70,000 and $90,000 a year to support the band, depending on whether or not we go to the BOA (Bands Of America) Nationals," he said. "If we can have a successful bingo operation, we shouldn't have to have a lot of other fund raising efforts."

Treasurer Bright noted that a lot of people have put in a lot of hard work to make the bingo operation a reality.

"The Adair County Band Boosters are truly a nation of people, and it's not just been one or two who have been working on this project," she said. "The band boosters are a large group of people who have come together to help the band."

The bingo hall's regular hours of operation will be from 5-10 p.m. on each Tuesday and Friday.

The bingo hall will be smoke free, although there will be breaks throughout the night to allow smokers to go outside and smoke in designated areas.

Concessions will also be on sale by the boosters.
